

Since 2020, the HUC-JIR Jewish Language Project has been working to accomplish our mission: To promote research on, awareness about, and engagement surrounding the many languages spoken and written by Jews throughout history and around the world.

IMPACT REPORT 2023

8 Crowd-sourced dictionaries

JEWISH LANGUAGE PROJECT BY THE NUMBERS

12 Groups in our Consortium 28 Native speaker interviews 42 Online events 205 Fun Facts 10,000 Social media followers

-- Rafi Levin, event attendee WEBSITE GROWTH www.jewishlanguages.org continues to expand so many of us in ways I never imagined. Looking forward to whatever comes next!"

"I can't thank you enough for ... providing all these amazing opportunities. As someone who loves languages and grew up hearing so many and learning some of them, I am so grateful for and intrigued by what you do. Whenever I have the opportunity to tune in to one of your ZOOMS / WEBINARS I'm there - brings me closer to global Jewish community and connects

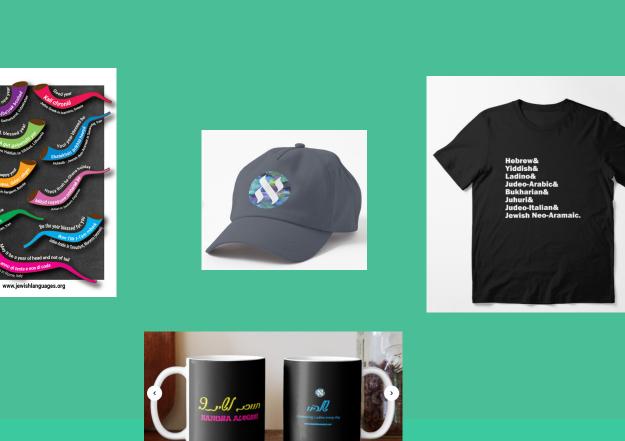

--Email list recipient MERCH, MERCH, MERCH

"I just received your email with the subject matter 'We've got Passover resources galore!" I want to thank you for putting together such informative and instructional materials."

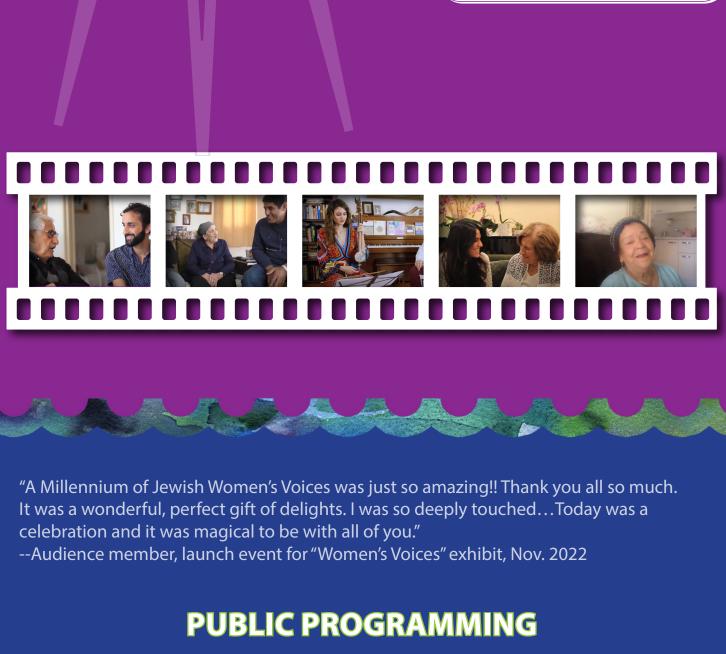

In 2022 we launched a RedBubble shop to showcase Jewish linguistic diversity and raise additional funds to support our mission. Designs are available on items like mugs, stickers, aprons, tote bags, socks, puzzles, and more. To date, the most popular

This year we coordinated the transcription, translation, and dissemination of 8 videos, mostly on Judeo-Iranian, with Wikitongues and our other partners in the Jewish Language Consortium.

dialects of Jewish Neo-Aramaic. explaining the language of the day, amassed over 70,000 total views around the world - raising awareness of Jewish

ONLINE ENGAGEMENT, ACCESSIBLE KNOWLEDGE

"The Jewish Language Project's social media posts promote conversation, debate, new lews in Morocco have spoken many languages including Judeo-Arabic, Haketia (Judeo-Spanish), and Jewish French. In rural Southwestern Morocco, especially the High Atlas Mountains, some Jews spoke a Jewish version of Amazigh, also known as Tamazight or Berber. This language is now endangered, but efforts to document it are underway.

MOROCCAN JUDEO-TAMAZIGHT

www.jewishlanguages.org

linguistic diversity for a much broader audience.

"I am interested in documenting endangered Iranian Jewish languages because Iran has one of the oldest

Jewish populations in the world and it would be a shame for these languages to die out. I want to take part in helping preserve my heritage and a piece of crucial Iranian and Jewish history."

--Michael Zargari, JLP documentation

intern and masters student, UC Santa Barbara connections, and ... a new channel for disseminating understanding and appreciation of Jewish languages." -Dr. Evelyn María Dean-Olmsted, JLP Advisory Board member Our weekly posts of Fun Facts and Jewish English Lexicon Word of the Week travel far! JEWISH LANGUAGE PROJECT Training Austrian dogs in Hebrew Jewish comedians during the Soviet Era often used a feature of Jewish Russian wherein intonation is changed to make a sentence mean its opposite. In one joke, Stalin receives a letter from Trotsky saying, "You were right I was wrong excuse me," but a Jewish advisor tells him that Trotsky actually had intended to say, "You were right? I was wrong? Excuse me!" Interpreted this way, Trotsky's letter means, "If you really believe that you were right and I was wrong, there is nothing to discuss further."

www.jewishlanguages.org

WORD OF THE WEEK

ongepotchket

WHO USES IT WITHIN ENGLISH:

Next Gen: Dr. Sarah Bunin Benor has supervised 52

young interns at the Jewish Language Project over the last 3 years. We believe in mentoring the next generation of scholars who are passionate about preserving and teaching this linguistic heritage.

MAKING NEWS

In Austria in the 1920s and '30s, a Zionist dog breeder and scientist named Rudolphina Menzel named her kennel "Bnai Satan" (children of Satan) and taught her dogs commands in Hebrew. In her new book Canine Pioneer, Susan Kahn writes, "While it was common practice to train police dogs in a foreign language so criminals could not communicate with dogs that were pursuing or attacking them, the spectacle of German military and police-dog trainers barking instructions at their dogs in rudimentary Hebrew must have eskapamiento bueno

JEWISH ENGLISH LEXICON

WORD OF THE WEEK

udolphin

We are working across disciplines, organizations, and countries to curate high-quality materials for inclusion in exhibits, digital catalogs, and other public spaces. Recent collaborators include:

National Library of Israel

curricular materials

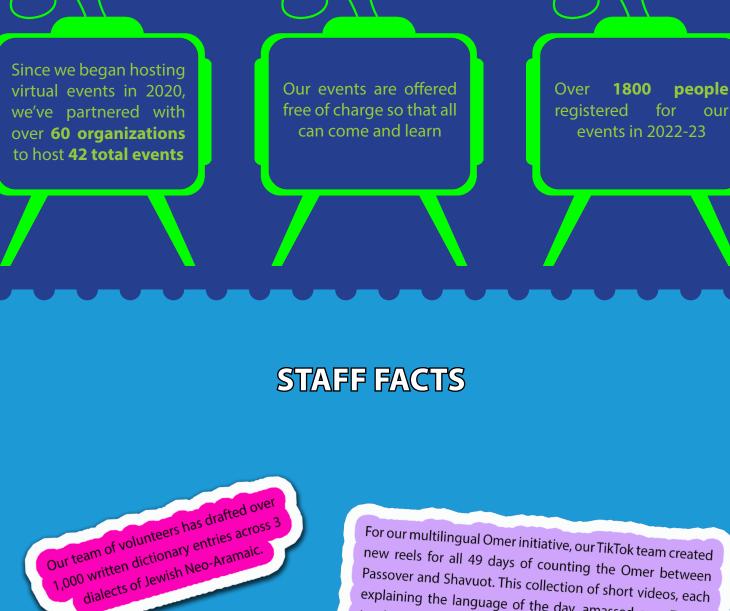

archiving the complete multilingual Omer counter for posterity JQT Vancouver event on queer Jewish language

Jewish Music Research Centre historical map exhibits its suite of educational and cultural resources Recent additions: A Millennium of Jewish Women's Voices, Multilingual Omer, Purim, Tu Bishvat Recent additions: Judeo-Tamazight, Judeo-Catalan, Karaim, Krymchak, Algerian Jewish Sign Language, Jewish Ethiopian Languages Anguage Desci OUR TOP 3 MOST-VISITED LEXICON SITES ARE: Jewish English Jewish Latin American Spanish Jewish French

merch item has been our set of greeting cards saying "Happy New Year" in multiple Jewish languages, which we'll be offering again for High Holidays 2023/5784! RECORDING ENDANGERED LANGUAGES Since January 2022, we have filmed 14 videos across 9 endangered Jewish language varieties.

JArts Kolture, a digital hub for Jewish arts and culture 9 curated exhibits

HOWDY, PARTNER!

American Sephardi Federation Institute of Jewish Experience

Princeton Geniza Lab

www.jewishlanguages.org

